QuestSoft Hires Steve Butler to Manage Increasing Compliance EAGLE Sales

LAGUNA HILLS, Calif., Sept. 10, 2011 – QuestSoft, a top provider of mortgage compliance software and services for lenders, has hired Steve Butler as vice president of Business Development for the company's Compliance EAGLE system, an end-to-end, fully automated compliance review solution for mortgage lenders.

"Steve has decades of experience in developing and managing software for mortgage lenders," said Leonard Ryan, president of QuestSoft. "His leadership, expertise and experience will help QuestSoft continue to develop Compliance EAGLE into the industry's premier solution for mortgage compliance automation."

Butler brings more than 30 years of mortgage and financial services industry expertise to QuestSoft, including more than 25 years in leading roles with financial institutions in the space. He will be responsible for overseeing the company's efforts in sales and business development for all automated compliance products and services.

"I have known Leonard Ryan for several years," Butler said. "I've always been impressed with the innovative products, the great customer service and the attention to detail QuestSoft provides. I look forward to working with Leonard and the team at QuestSoft to grow and expand the Compliance EAGLE business."

Prior to joining QuestSoft, Butler served as president and CEO of Idaho Falls, Idaho-based Solex, an online lending solution for the RV and marine industries. He also served as national markets consultant of mortgage/technology solutions for Minneapolis-based Wolters Kluwer Financial Services and executive vice president of Ann Arbor, Mich.-based Entyre, Inc., where he helped steer the company through a profitable sale to Wolters Kluwer. Prior to that, Butler was the Vice President of National Sales at DocuTech, a compliance services and documentation technology company for the mortgage industry in Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Compliance EAGLE, QuestSoft's flagship product, examines loan files for adherence to the wide range of mortgage lending regulations, including RESPA, HMDA, TILA, Community Reinvestment Act (CRA), flood determination requirements and other consumer and predatory lending laws. The company also offers HMDA RELIEF, CRA RELIEF and LendingPatterns, which provide lenders, banks and credit unions, with specific tools designed to simplify the collection, analysis and reporting of HMDA, fair lending and CRA data. QuestSoft rounds out its product offerings with Instant Geocoder; which provides quick location searches for any company that must rely on accurate addresses for marketing, compliance or reporting.
